

P4K Mentors of the 3rd Quarter

Goal Buddy of the Quarter: Jeremy Bowers

Jeremy has been mentoring with Partnership 4 Kids for four years at Field Club Elementary. I have known Jeremy for a year now and he has been nothing but a top-notch mentor. For most of the year Jeremy has had to manage a classroom all by himself. While this might have proven too much for some people Jeremy took this task head on and with enthusiasm! Thanks to Jeremy these kids have had a reliable quality mentor all year and have received the above and beyond support we strive for here at P4K.

Thank you again Jeremy for your amazing service this year! We look forward to seeing all you'll do in the future. You are an amazing asset to your students!

Middle School - Group Mentor of the Quarter: Judy Prenzler

Ms. Judy Prenzler has truly been a wonderful addition as mentor to the 8th grade group at Lewis and Clark. Once she joined P4K as a group mentor she not only took that role head on she also chose to serve as a goal buddy for the elementary program and is still anxious for more ways to make an impact on young people. Her genuine kindness is seen by our entire student group and most definitely her mentee group. Ms. Judy stepped right in, and not too shorty after, began to reel in a group of young men who were as equally engaged and focused, as they were energetic and all over the place. All four of the students had yet to be matched during their middle school experience and really seemed to enjoy their time chatting, working, and of course playing a mean game of UNO with each other and Ms. Judy. While P4K typically makes gender matches, this exception has been beneficial for both mentor and mentees. Ms. Judy challenges, celebrates, and helps her mentees recognize their own value and what is possible for their individual futures. It is my pleasure to recognize Ms. Judy Prenzler as the Middle School Group Mentor of 3rd Quarter.

High School - Group Mentor of the Quarter: Manger Baw

Manger is a mentor for the 9th grade Benson group, and has been very flexible with the changing group as it grows. She was just recently matched but has been at every meeting and very involved in what we do during the meetings all along. The students are excited when they see her, and she does an amazing job of involving all the students in the meeting whether they are her mentees or not. Manger is also invaluable in the translation work she does with the Karen families, and has been a great asset for the students, families, and P4K.
